GivNGo Fuel in Freeport, part of the charitable PinkTie Network, will be delivering a donation of $10,000 to the Freeport Chamber of Commerce to purchase portable Chromebooks for students in need in Freeport, Long Island.

The check presentation will take place on Tuesday October 27th at 11:30 at the GivNGo Fuel Station at 300 W. Merrick Road in Freeport. Danny and Emre Ocak, the GivNGo Fuel owners, will be joined by co-founders of PinkTie, Mike and Rich Cave. The Freeport Chamber Board of Directors and local elected officials will also be in attendance.

“Right now, we need corporate philanthropy to increase in order to meet the needs of our local communities. We are happy to support the Freeport Chamber and assure students get access to technology that may not otherwise be available,” said Mike Cave the co-founder of PinkTie.

“The GivNGo Fuel Station dedicates a portion of each gallon purchased to local charities, so the money stays in the community. Folks have an opportunity to invest in their neighborhood with even simple transactions like filling up their tank.” Rich Cave said co-founder of PinkTie.

PinkTie 1000 Foundation is a 501(c)(3) is a community-led charity that tackles tough social and economic problems with urgency and a long-term approach to create access to opportunities for people in underserved communities in New York State.

The Freeport Chamber of Commerce is a private, voluntary, not-for-profit organization of business and professional people dedicated to improving the economic environment of the Incorporated Village of Freeport, Long Island and New York State.
